

CRIMES AGAINST CHILDREN, WOMEN, DISABLED AND THE ELDERLY

The Voice from the Pavement - Peter Adamis 5 April 2013

I have written this because of the article below and despite retaining some measure of emotional control, I cannot but feel like removing these vile bastards who have taken the lives of their own flesh and blood.

I have long been an opponent and still am of capital punishment and a supporter against violence of any kind. Especially of violence against children, women and the elderly. Even to the extent of providing some form of support to those sickos who lack the emotional maturity and intelligence to refrain from acts of violence.

I know too well having experienced violence, intimidation, threats, harassment, bullying and sexual abuse to wage war so to speak against those in our society that sometimes I could just strangle with my own two hands.

I remember my sons being attacked by three youths at one stage and I lost it going after them and dropping the wrench (a weapon I prefer not to say). The three louts called me a crazy bastard, but I did not care. I immediately called the Police and admitted belting them, but no charges were made against me as no complaint.

They never returned until years later, one of which regretted his bully days and became friends with my sons. I would do it again and again to safeguard the well being and interests of my family. Sick bastards the lot of them and I hope they both rot in jail. The article below may no longer be available on the internet.

http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2304118/Die-Mick-die-sister-screamed--man-burned-children-death-gave-v-sign-court.html?ITO=1490&ns_mchannel=rss&ns_campaign=1490

The Voice from the Pavement - Peter Adamis is a (not for profit) Journalist/Commentator. He is a retired Australian military serviceman and an Industry organisational & Occupational (OHS) & Training Consultant whose interests are within the parameters of domestic and international political spectrum. He is an avid blogger and contributes to domestic and international community news media outlets as well as to local and Ethnic News. He holds a Bachelor of Adult Learning & Development (Monash), Grad Dip Occupational Health & Safety, (Monash), Dip. Training & Assessment, Dip Public Administration, and Dip Frontline Management. Contact via Email: abalinx@netspace.net.au or via Mobile: 0409965538