

VICTORIAN HELLENIC TOWER OF BABEL BEGINS

Let us hope that the tower does not become Victoria's Tower of Babel and divides Australians of Hellenic heritage. If the tower is to succeed and become a reality it is because, the political conditions are right, the environment is fertile and the generations are in place to create it. However having said this, let us not forget those who strode the stage before them and prepared the way for the current generation of leaders.

The leaders of the past for all their faults, lacked the language skills that we take for granted, lacked the polish and the finesse we expect our leaders today, but they never failed in their pursuit of keeping Hellenism alive in the hearts and minds of all Australians of Hellenic origins. Therefore humility is the correct format that is expected of those who have been elected to lead for the future. Peter Adamis
